DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nutter et al.

The Nutter reference teaches compositions from the hop acids such as hexahydrolupulones as antibacterial agents. The reference teaches the use of the (HHC) against Staphylococcus Aureus.

The instant invention is drawn to a method of effecting the growth of Staph. Aureus. with a compound such as hexahydro beta acids, tetrahydroiso alpha acids and their salts, that is effective to kill, inhibit, etc....

It would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a Hops acid such as any known hops acid to kill bacteria or act as an antibiotic as taught in the prior art. One would expect the instant invention methods in view of the prior art disclosures in the absence of a showing of unexpected results.
